Workshops 29 March 2012

9.00 - 12.30 WORKSHOP A

Creating and Sustaining a Culture of Peak Performance

Key to achieving significant cultural change and a productive, high performance workforce is the execution of an effective leadership development and team coaching program. In addition to 1:1 coaching, many organisations are looking at how to develop leaders who can foster shared leadership using a team coaching style of leadership within their senior executives to harness the positive benefits which team coaching can have on culture, retention and performance. In this workshop, participants will have a chance to experience various team coaching tools first-hand, covering key topics such as:

- Tapping action reflection learning principles to achieve improved results and motivation
- Using team coaching to help solve business challenges, and develop their talents at the same time
- Linking team coaching to leadership development programs
- Sustaining behavioural change and achieving business impact

Expert Facilitator: Tan Swee Heng Director, Singapore Leadership In International Management (LIM) LLC

Swee Heng, LIM Director and principal learning coach in Singapore, has 30 years of senior leadership and management experience in Singapore and Asia. Before becoming a professional coach and trainer, his previous work experiences include helping Deloitte and Reed Elsevier establish high performance culture and systems for sustained performance. Swee Heng works with senior leaders & HR teams in Asia to successfully deliver key leadership, talent and organizational development results. He coaches and trains in China, Hong Kong, India, Thailand, Philippines, Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia, using his vast experience to raise leadership quality and culture that are necessary to increasing profits and efficiency, reducing costs and retaining talents. Swee Heng has an MBA In International Management from the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology (RMIT) and a business management degree from Murdoch University. Besides being a qualified Learning Coach, Swee Heng is also a Certified Professional Trainer and is certified to equip executives to interact more effectively using the Social Style communication tool.

12.30 - 1.30 NETWORKING LUNCH

1.30 - 5.00 WORKSHOP B

Achieving Business Alignment: Connecting Leadership, Culture and Business Performance

CEOs are increasingly recognising the strong connection between leadership, culture and business performance. Therefore, many organisations are currently investing more time and resources in this area. While important headway is being made by HR practitioners towards achieving business alignment, the challenge for many lies in establishing a clear line of sight between interventions and the business plan and succinctly articulating and demonstrating this to senior management. In this highly interactive and practical session the facilitator will present a range of real-life examples and invite participants to share their challenges and progress in this area, covering:

- Developing comprehensive multi-level leadership programs
- Building leadership capability for driving a performance culture
- Aligning human capital and leadership development to the business plan and measuring its impact on execution
- How to build trust
- Developing a definable process for aligning human capital and leadership capability with business goals

Expert Facilitator: Cameron Francis Chairman and CEO Asia Harbour Future Leaders

Cameron is an organisational psychologist and the founder and CEO of Harbour Future Leaders. His current role as CEO Asia is to acquire and develop global best practices in leadership assessment, development and talent management, as well as to attract, develop and retain a team of outstanding thought leaders and experienced consultants. With just on 20 years of experience in the fields of prediction, assessment, and development of leadership skills and competencies; as well as international training in Psychometrics, Assessment and Development Centre best practice and Emotional Intelligence assessment – Cameron is one of the most knowledgeable Talent Management consultants in the Asia-Pacific region.

ABOUT THE FORUM

In an uncertain, dynamic and often volatile business environment, the key differentiating factor for high-performing organisations is that they have developed resilient leadership capability. As progressive organisations increasingly recognise the linkages between strong leadership, organisational culture, workforce productivity and successful business outcomes, the role of the HR practitioner has moved decisively into the spotlight as a key enabler of organisational strategy and performance.

In an environment that demands close scrutiny of HR spend and an increasingly evidence-based approach to human capital development, the need for a platform whereby practitioners can candidly share innovations, lessons learnt and success stories has never been higher. This forum will highlight a range of practical case study examples and hand-picked expert insights which will demonstrate how HR staff can cost-effectively optimise leadership and human capital initiatives to galvanise their organisations for turbulent times and secure a path for sustained growth.
