BECAUSE LEADING OTHERS IS A WHOLE NEW BALLGAME.

Leadership development of new and recently promoted managers is critical to future success. And yet, almost 60% of frontline managers never receive training for their first leadership role. We want to do something about that. Frontline Leader Impact is an online, 6-week program that’s perfect for managers and supervisors of individual contributors, first-time managers, or anyone who is preparing to move into a first-level manager role.

Our research has identified 6 key competencies that are essential for frontline managers to master: self-awareness, learning agility, communication, political savvy, influencing outcomes, and motivating others. This award-winning leadership program focuses on developing these 6 core skills in a highly interactive online environment designed to facilitate personal growth and effectiveness.
WHAT PARTICIPANTS LEARN

- Tools to gain a detailed picture of personal strengths and challenges
- How to listen, speak, and write clearly and consistently for maximum impact
- Techniques for influencing others effectively to gain cooperation and get things done
- Strategies for inspiring commitment and building strong working relationships
- Ability to develop a long-term Leadership Growth Plan that’s actionable and measurable
