Does your team work hard? Would some time away from the daily grind be good? Sometimes your team just needs to get away to build the team. It can have fun, do good, volunteer, or just relax. Set aside time for team members to get to know each other better outside the office. Lead a team from work to participate in a number of ways. Here are several suggestions. Ask your team for other ideas.

- Form a recreational or sports team, such as baseball, kickball, or trivia.
- Put together a one-time community service team to take part in a spring neighborhood clean-up day or serve in a soup kitchen.
- Help with emergency disaster relief such as holding a yard sale to raise money for families who were in a local fire or flood.
- Support a local event, such as building a float for the local Thanksgiving Day parade or sponsoring a fun-run team or parking cars.
- Support other volunteer efforts such as youth going to another state or country to provide aid or assistance.
